

CHAPTER 04: THE NATURAL CONTRACT

PAULO TAVARES

Excerpts from interview with (non)human rights lawyer Mario Melo. Archive images of the testimony of Don Sabino Gualinga at the Inter-American Court of Human Rights during the landmark case Kichwa People of Sarayaku v. State of Ecuador. Melo situates the Rights of Nature within legal theory, arguing that, fundamentally, it is a tool for political transformation. Non-human rights as dissident legal-political epistemology.

Cluster: Non-human Rights

Source URL: <https://www.worldofmatter.net/chapter-04-natural-contract>